FINISH TO GAME
Fitzpatrick Pitched Both Games.
Wins One and Loses One.
The Score.

With a terribly exciting ninth-inning finish yesterday afternoon, baseball for the season of 1905 came to an end. Heroes of the diamond gave way to the gridiron gladiators for whom the park management is now making extensive preparation. Over two thousand citizens witnessed the two games yesterday between the Richmond Browns and the Barton Heights team. They broke even, the Browns taking the first game by the score of 6 to 3, and the Highlanders winning the second exhibition by the score of 3 to 2.

Fitzpatrick pitched both games for the Highlanders and was stronger even in the second contest than in the first. Certainly he didn't allow as many hits. His error, however, in the eighth inning came near resulting disastrously for his nine. Too much steam was bottled up in his whip and when he attempted to field a bunt across to first, he threw the sphere to the bleachers, but for the fact that the horsehide stuck in the fence, another run would have come in, and there would have been some extra innings played.

Saved in the Ninth.
But it remained for the close of the last inning for the excitement. The score was three to two with the Barton Heights boys clinging to the big end of the proposition. They went to bat for the last time and failed to increase the lead. And then the Browns came in. One run was necessary to tie the score and force some extra innings. Two runs would be sufficient to win the game. And the teams were playing for all the while.

Rose received transportation to first, and Hicks beat one out. Jack Anthony got a single, and the bases were filled with no man out. A clean single meant two scores, the game and the money. A long fly would bring one runner across the rubber. Each was the batter, and an exciting game. The grandstand was waiting for the crack of the bat with the ball.

Each looked over one and then cracked the next one. Like a bullet from a gun went the sphere straight towards Fitzpatrick, the twirler. Fitz couldn't escape it. Out shot the ball. Rose had naturally started away from third. The ball was snapped over there, and two men had taken the cemetery road within a grandstand. Hicks and Anthony were yet on the bases, and there was a chance to the lead. Sharp was the next batter, but his best was to lift one out to left garden, over which relays Jennings. There must have been glue in Jennings' hand, for the ball didn't touch the ground again. It was over—the last game of the season was at an end.

Trevillian's Home Drive.
Nothing could stop the Browns from hitting in the first game. Fitzpatrick had them guessing until the sixth inning, when things began to happen. The work of Rose during this game was excellent. He received two singles, a double and two three-runners out of five times up.

Barton Heights scored in the first inning. Three tallies came over, and the rooters from across the divide were happy. Baehle lifted one to left, and Rose pitched it down after a fine run. Baehle was literally robbed of the swat. Boone took the other field and sent one in the atmosphere below which plays Jimmie Bowers. Jennings, in the eighth, was the ball, something he hasn't done before in many moons. Phillips was lifted and slid down to first. Mills forced him out at second. Trevillian, the southpaw twirler, came in and straightened out one of Leake's benders. When the ball returned, Trevillian was across the plate, having made one of the prettiest home-run drives of the season. But these three runs were not all for the game, and they were not.

After one man was out, Rose lifted a three-bagger in the sixth inning. He scored on Hicks' drive, and Hicks came over when Sharp pitched one. Rose was the first man up in the eighth, and again he got a three-bagger. This one came near resulting in a home-run. Hicks was the medicine again, and with a single brought his runner over. Sharp got a three-bagger, scoring Jack Anthony, and a minute later scoring when Leake dumped one to second. Leake's two-bagger and a single by Rose and another by Hicks netted a run in the ninth. From the amount of hits, it would appear that the home team would have made more runs, but the fielding at all times was clean and clear-cut.

CAIRNGORM WINS THE BRIGHTON CUP

The Padget Horse An Odds-On Favorite in Race of Two and a Quarter Miles.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Before a crowd of twenty thousand persons, Sydney Paget's Cairngorm, the 9 to 20 favorite, scored an easy victory in the Brighton Cup of two and a quarter miles at Brighton, on Sunday, defeating Caughnawaga, the only other starter, by six lengths. The pace was slow throughout, and the distance was covered in 4:08.5. Cairngorm, on his easy victory over Caughnawaga, won the cup preliminary last Wednesday, was made an odds-on favorite to-day. Cairngorm ran nearly the whole way pulled up.

In the sixth race, Brother Frank, backed from 2 to 1 to 9 to 10, looked a sure winner, but when he got within a few feet of the finish he stopped and kicked, which cost him the race. Neither Side Scored.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
HAMPDEN-SIDNEY, Va., Sept. 30.—At the game here this afternoon between the college team and that of Hope Academy neither side scored. Both lines seemed almost impassible and good work was done on the ends. The Hope line outweighed that of Hampden-Sidney by about fifteen pounds to the man. At the instance of the Hope team the halves were limited to 12 and 10 minutes, respectively. For the college team Joyner, Johns, Payne and Thayer played a good game. For the visitors, Price and West showed up well.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., September 30.—The University of Pennsylvania opened the football season on Franklin field to-day by defeating Lehigh by the score of 35 to 0. CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., September 30.—After running up a lot of thirty points this afternoon, Virginia allowed Duval to receive the ball on a punt near the close of the second half and sprint forty yards for a touchdown. Not a Virginia tackler was able to get anywhere near the center to intercept him in his dash. Throughout the remainder of the thirty minutes of play, however, "King" Cole's men held the Marylanders safe. Not once were they able to gain the necessary five yards.

Virginia's play in the first half was marked by much passing, and as a consequence, only two touchdowns were scored. The second half showed great improvement, the plays being gotten off more rapidly and the backs getting through St. John's line for good gains. Johnson, Crawford and Randolph made frequent dashes for twenty, thirty and forty yards.

As in Wednesday's game, the interference of Barry, the star end from North Carolina, was again conspicuous. Crawford's run of thirty yards for a touchdown in the first half was due mainly to the fact in which Barry kept off the opposing tacklers. Captain Cooke, who has been out of the game a week on account of a bad knee, put up a star game at tackle. He and Daingerfield were the only men that played throughout the contest.</
